A FEW WEEKS MORE OF THE ELLEFORDS

The theatrical season at the Orpheum will not terminate with tonight's performance, as had been announced, but will continue for several weeks to come. This welcome news was given out late last night.

The company booked for an engagement in Sacramento beginning in about two weeks, but a message has been received from W. J. Elleford that the date for opening had been extended until February 10, and the intervening time Manager Cooley has decided to put in in Honolulu.

However, a season of low prices is to be inaugurated with the performance next Monday night. The transportation of the company has been liquidated, and this being a big source of expense, the management feels that it can afford to present its plays at lower prices, and the public is to be given the benefit. Under the new arrangement, which is advantageous to the house management, the prices hereafter will be 25, 35 and 50 cents, instead of 25, 50 and 75 cents as heretofore. It will, of course, take bigger audiences at these prices to give the returns of the old prices, and the management hopes the public will show its appreciation of the reduction by bestowing more liberal patronage.

Monday night a beautiful drama of Southern life, entitled "A Daughter of Dixie," is to be presented. The play is a dramatization of Henry Blossom's famous novel, "Checkers." Mr. Cooley and Miss Kingsbury have had it in their repertoire for several years, and a good production can be promised. "Down by the Sea" is to be played at the matinee this afternoon and for the last time tonight.

CHATTY NEWS FROM HAULA

HAULA, January 2.—The festive season has come and gone and the hamlet has resumed its erstwhile dormancy. There was quite a little currency in sight about Christmas, due to the paying-off of the local leaf-hopper corps which has been operating at Kahuku at a flat rate of 5c. per 100 hoppers. The record catch for one day is credited to Fujiyama Jackson, one of Haula's best known and respected Nipponese. His total was 2000 hoppers.

The event of New Year's Day was the installation of a waterpipe in the yard of Moses Aalana. Fifty villagers witnessed the filling of the first glass, the ceremony being conducted by H. M. Ayres, who had been brought from Honolulu for the purpose. The occasion was especially significant in view of the fact that hitherto instances of waterdrinking in Haula have been exceedingly rare.
